Ten Quick Stops that Easily Fit Into Your Itinerary

- Because we're midway between New Orleans and Lafayette, the Cajun Coast is an excellent place to stop and have lunch at one of our local Cajun restaurants.
- Stop at one of our main streets, walk around, stretch your legs and do a little shopping. With notice, refreshments and discounts will be offered.
- Have a gourmet picnic basket lunch at one of our plantation homes, the Louisiana State Museum or Cypress Manor and Mardi Gras Museum.
- Schedule a pick-me-up coffee and snack break at one of the attractions or Cover to Cover Books & Coffee, The Coffee Corner or The Main Street Café.
- Tour the International Petroleum Museum and have lunch in the galley of the "Mr. Charlie" oil rig.
- Super Wal-Mart is always open and easily accessible.
- In October, November and December stop and pick your own satsumas (similar to tangerines).
- Have a picnic lunch in Lawrence Park and go shopping in Morgan City's Historic District.
- Enjoy a boiled seafood get-together at Lake End Park.
- Go birdwatching at the Brownell Carillon Bell Tower.
